

NO COINS PLEASE

“No Coins, Please” by Gordon Korman was a good book. Rob and Dennis are tour counselors who take six kids (Sam, Howie, Sheldon, Nick, Kevin and Artie) on tour across the U.S.A. in a van they call the Ambulance. The tour starts normally but then Artie leaves the van with two hundred dollars. Read to find out what happens.

If you like books about money you will enjoy this one. There are some funny moments. If you enjoyed Jean Merrill’s “Toothpaste Millionaire” you will probably like this book too. I would recommend this to people ages 11+.
